"MORE CHILLI DOGS OVER HERE!" Sonic commanded.

A Koopa Troopa dressed as a waiter walked over to Sonic's table with a cloth on his hand.

"Don't you think you've had enough there?" the waiter asked.

"More chill dogs, Carl! Extra mustard! I'm having that kind of day!" Sonic shouted. Carl gasped and ran over to the staff room to get some more chill dogs. A man dressed in black tapped Sonic on the shoulder. Sonic turned and elbowed him in the chest, then threw him across an unused table.

"Reveal yourself," Sonic growled, stepping on the man. The man took his mask off and revealed a red cap with an M on it, and a face a big nose and a moustache.

"Mario? What are you doing here?" Sonic questioned, helping Mario back on his feet.

"I've 'a got 'a something bad to 'a tell you," Mario panted, taking any black he had off.

"Wait, why were you wearing black?" said Sonic.

"I didn't 'a want anyone 'a dangerous to see 'a me 'a coming and telling you the bad news," Mario explained. "Toadâ€¦'a died."

Sonic jumped back and wheezed. "You what, mate? How did he die?"

"The 'a same 'a way we all are going to die. Two 'a words. Master Hand," Mario gulped.

"I've heard 'bout him. He's a bad dude," Sonic sighed. Suddenly, a huge laser blast exploded at the front of the bar. Several black-dressed Miis jumped in out of nowhere. Everyone but Mario and Sonic escaped for an exit. Mario and Sonic kept stepping back frightened and the Miis came close to them. Suddenly, a boomerang flew inside the bar and then came into contact with the first Mii, taking her out.

A bolt of thunder took out another one.

A strange mouth-ey kind of wind sucked in another one.

An arrow took out another one.

And finally, an electric blast took out one. There was only one standing.

"When 'a those 'a mysterious people crashed in, me and 'a Sonic knew there was 'a no escape! But 'a then these 'a mysterious attacks swooped in and 'a saved us! The 'a strangest wave of dÃ©jÃ vu just 'a washed over me!"

Story

The one standing was wearing sunglasses, with a flat haircut and a black suit, with black shoes and no pants. His black suit had a tag which said, "Jason".

Jason looked around and let out a frustrated growl. "UGH! YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE LAST OF US!" he shouted. Jason picked up his Mii team with his tekenesis powers, then picked himself up and soared into the night sky.

Another group jumped in, but this time it was a pink puffball, a yellow rodent, a tall elf, a robot-looking figure, an angel and a little child.

"Nice to meet you guys! I'm Kirby!" the puffball greeted.

"Pika Pikachu! (My name's Pikachu)," the rodent smiled.

"Link's the name. Pleased to make your acquaintances," the elf grinned while bowing.

"Samus," the robot figure chimed.

"Call me Pit," the angel grinned.

"And they call me the Villager!" the child said. "Who might you guys be?"

"Sonic's the name, and this is my buddy Mario. We go way back," Sonic beamed. "Thank you guys for saving us."

Suddenly, a goddess teleported behind the group. "I will be taking you all to a quite a safe place," she said, spawning a purple portal beside her. "Jump in."

Sonic hesitated, when Pit put his hand on his shoulder. "Do not worry, that's Lady Palutena, my goddess," he smiled. Sonic took his word for it and did a Spin Dash into the portal. Pikachu did a Volt Tackle into the portal, Kirby jumped and flipped into the portal sideways. Link ran into the portal, Mario did a backflip into the portal, Samus jumped into the portal and Villager rode a rocket into the portal. Pit flew into the portal. Palutena closed the portal and teleported.

The portal spat everyone out into a different place. They all landed on each other. Suddenly, they all got electrocuted and flew off, with Pikachu standing up with an angry facial expression. Palutena teleported in front of what looked like a huge yellow mansion with a picture of a Smash Ball in the middle. Everyone got up and stared at the mansion.

"Welcome to the Super Smash Brothers House. This is the house you'll be hiding in until White Hand and Crazy Hand are both dealt with," Palutena smiled.

"I bet it has great nom nom!" Kirby grinned with his mouth watering.

"It probably has, but you'd have to cook it yourselves. Everything in this house is your responsibility. Come," said Palutena. The amazed group followed the immortal lady into the house. The living room was connected to the kitchen room, and they were huge. They all then wandered upstairs, where the rooms and the bathrooms were.

"Mario and Sonic share a room, Pit and Link, Kirby and Pikachu, Villager and Samus," said Palutena. "Go check them out, and I will call for you soon," Palutena smiled as she walked down the stairs. All 8 of the Smash Brothers checked out their rooms.

Mario and Sonic's room was part Mushroom Kingdom, part Mobius. Mario's half was red with white polka dots, with a table with a mushroom on a plastic plate with it, while Sonic's half was all green with rings with a plate of chilly dogs on a table. All of the other rooms adapted to the character's origin, to make them feel more at home.

The Smash Bros made their way down to the living room, and Palutena was there, as expected.

"Our rooms are awesome! How did you built this all?" Sonic said.

"I called in some favours," Palutena smiled. "I met a couple of very strong Miis and got some of my angels to help build this mansion," she explained. "And it's all yours. I'll be back every once in a while to check on you guys. There's even a pool in the back and a training stadium," she said. "Bye now."

And with that, Palutena disappeared.

Sonic the Hedgehog " The Blue Blur (Interview)

"This is way past cool! We get our own mansion, guarded by a goddess, and we get to do whatever we want! I wonder what we should do now!"
